

Montana Folks

Durrae Johanek, John Johanek
DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#6806677 in Books TwoDot 2004-11-01Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 .76 x 8.52 x 9.50l, 1.97 #File Name: 076272546X240 pages | File size: 31.Mb

Durrae Johanek, John Johanek : Montana Folks before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Montana Folks:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Montana Folks gets it...By RachelJohn and Durrae Johanek really seem to get what it is about the people they interview that makes them uniquely Montanan. The book is not just a quick snapshot of these people's lives, nor does it just slap a label on them. It tells who they really are, what they do, and often, why they choose to live their life in Montana the way they do. They interview some amazing, truly interesting people who do things foreign to many of us. The stories are astounding, and so are the people behind them. The book is well-written and is humorous where appropriate. Helps you to "walk in someone else's shoes." I happened to meet, entirely by accident, one of the people they interviewed, and the portrait of her in Montana Folks was right on. Meet some new people today. Get the book.

Features essays about and interviews with 57 noteworthy Montanans. Black-and-white photographs accompany each essay.

From the Back CoverThrough striking black-and-white photographs and engaging essays, Montana Folks celebrates the lives and livelihoods of fifty-seven contemporary Montanans. Selected because they have jobs unique to Montana or lives that epitomize Montana's past, present, and future, these ordinary people doing extraordinary things exemplify the distinctive spirit of Montana. You'll get to know Paul Bronson, now retired, whose job it was to clear the snow from the breathtaking heights of the Beartooth Highway each spring, and sheepshearer Olen Raisland of Reedpoint, a third-generation sheepshearer who shears more than nine thousand sheep a year by himself. An astronaut, yodeling botanist, Santa broker, one-man band, sugar beets grower, grizzly bear expert, caviar maker, and many more fascinating men and women tell their stories in this exceptional book. Montanans and those who love Montana will recognize themselves in this collection of portraits from all over the state, rejoicing in the diversity and independence that gives Montana its character.