Bill Jakes : Murfreesboro (TN) (Postcard History Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Murfreesboro (TN) (Postcard History Series):

Murfreesboro was recognized as an official city in 1817, and from 1818 to 1826, it was the capital of Tennessee. In its early years, the town established itself as a rich agricultural community. By 1853, the area was home to three colleges and several academies. Murfreesboro played a decisive role in the Civil War and suffered the loss of many of its people and much of its architecture. However, in the early 20th century, Murfreesboro regained its momentum and began to rebuild. Many of the buildings from this era still exist today and stand as great reminders of the town's past.

About the AuthorThe author, Bill Jakes, is a fifth-generation Murfreesboro resident and a collector of images of his hometown. This collection of postcards is presented by the author for the purpose of sharing this historic view with the town that he holds so dear.
